

Who is Breon? (A Biography)

Breon Lanier is a talented vocalist, atmosphere curator, songwriter, and vocal coach based in Washington, DC. He began his musical journey at age of three and quickly found his passion for performance, joining an adult choir by the age of nine. As a worship leader at sixteen, Breon honed his craft, inspired by his mother, a choir director. He tried to be normal and go the traditional route but was called back to his first love, music, after college. He now infuses the power of pew with the sultriness of the club flipping rooms upside down with the power of sound. He has released a project titled "Frequency" in collaboration with music partner Fred Dixie, featuring the legendary artist B.Slade, and has graced the stage at venues such as the Jazz Kitchen, Georgia St. Rhythm and Blues, as well as numerous festivals. Believing in the profound impact of music, Breon strives to use its power to enrich every space he enters and leave people better than he found them.
